"I just wanted to thank you for this award has confirmed my belief that in our country one can still get recognition without political networking, hobnobbing with the authority or some crooked means. You can't imagine what it meant for my children Atman and Anandi who participated in the making of the video. They have developed a belief in their own selves and they think that everything is possible. The idea of asking non experts (regarding technical aspects of drugs/ TB etc) to participate in this competition was novel. It provided a glimpse of what information is available to the layperson about this issue and about his/her perspective. For me it was an interesting challenge to try whether this issue can be presented in a simple and convincing way. It has been a learning experience. Thanks for the opportunity."
